1 Overview & introduction from the Chair of SACRE

May I start this forward by thanking the efforts of our education directorate to ensure that our SACRE may continue to carry out its functions into the future. The changes enacted by the present Government have reduced the education support budget to local authorities, and these changes have had a major impact on the support that many SACRE's are provided with and I just wanted to start by thanking our council leader and cabinet lead in conjunction with our educational professionals in continuing to support the work that we do in promoting and supporting community and faith cohesion in our schools in what is amongst one of the most diverse local authorities in the country. Our council made a very magnanimous gesture in stating it wished to work equally with the academy and free schools in the borough along with those that remain as maintained and I trust in turn they will all value and use the resources and non-statutory advice provided in our agreed syllabus to promote and extend religious knowledge and education in the borough.

The many public and LA sponsored events that take place during the year show the tip of the iceberg which is under the water line obscuring all the work and commitment contributed by our faith groups and indeed those who profess no faith to enhance and promote the pride and peace we have in Waltham Forest. The borough does sincerely and practically live up to the William Morris Motto which the borough treasures as its own in that "Fellowship is life and the lack of fellowship is death". We continue to live and grow together and long may it continue.

Historically I have always shared in this introduction some of the things that have impacted on my life. Well as this has to cover the past few years I do want to mention a meeting I had in the spring of 2016 – well actually it was autumn but I was on the other side of the equator and visiting South Africa when I had the opportunity to attend a Mass at St Georges Cathedral celebrated by the legendary Arch Bishop Desmond Tutu. Then after to meet with him and have a picture taken with him. It is rare that we get the opportunity to meet such a great human being and indeed although he is quite short and now in failing health his sense of humor and his charisma shone out like a beacon in the early morning sunshine. I also want to mention the impact that a very simple but effective Holocaust Memorial had on me on the bank of the River Danube in Budapest just outside their parliament building, it is just a line of now metal shoes which were left there by their owners before they were killed by the Nazis just before the city was liberated in 1945. Lastly I wanted to report that as I write this it's the week following Britain's Multi-faith week and last week I had so many invites to multi faith and culture events that I had to restrict myself to those I would attend but to say how wonderful it was to see so many events attended by such an array of cultures and beliefs that reside in my borough.

Finally, can I pay tribute to all the SACRE members who come out to our at least six meetings a year, many held on cold and inhospitable winter nights, it's a great pleasure meeting and working with them all. I'd also like to pay thanks to our support, particularly our new LA link and Governor Services our SACRE Clerks and finally but not least to Peter Dawe our vice chair for his involvement, support and encouragement.

Looking forward to next year, it's going to be no less a challenge but one we all yet again relish, because good RE contributes to good communities living alongside and with each other.

I have great pleasure in commending the following report to you.

Kind Regards

Ted Cooke

Chair, Waltham Forest

2 Religious Education (RE)

Religious education contributes dynamically to children and young people's education in schools by provoking challenging questions about meaning and purpose in life, beliefs about God, ultimate reality, issues of right and wrong and what it means to be human. In RE they learn about and from religions and worldviews in local, national and global contexts, to discover, explore and consider different answers to these questions. They learn to consider the value of wisdom from different sources, to develop and express their insights in response, and to agree or disagree respectfully.

Teaching therefore should equip pupils with systematic knowledge and understanding of a range of religions and worldviews, enabling them to develop their ideas, values and identities. It should develop in pupils an aptitude for dialogue so that they can participate positively in our society with its diverse religions and worldviews.

At a level, appropriate to their Key Stage and ability, pupils should gain and deploy the skills needed to understand, interpret and evaluate texts, sources of wisdom and authority and other evidence.

They learn to articulate clearly and coherently their personal beliefs, ideas, values and experiences while respecting the right of others to differ.

Aims

The curriculum for RE aims to ensure that through following the requirements of the Agreed Syllabus, all pupils:

- a. Know about and understand a range of religions and worldviews, so that they can:
 - describe, explain and analyse beliefs and practices, recognising the diversity which exists within and between communities and amongst individuals;
 - identify, investigate and respond to questions posed, and responses offered by some of the sources of wisdom found in religions and worldviews;
 - appreciate and appraise the nature, significance and impact of different ways of life and ways of expressing meaning.

- b. Express ideas and insights about the nature, significance and impact of religions and worldviews, so that they can:
 - explain reasonably their ideas about how beliefs, practices and forms of expression influence individuals and communities;
 - express with increasing discernment their personal reflections and critical responses to questions and teachings about identity, diversity, meaning and value, including ethical issues;
 - appreciate and appraise varied dimensions of religion or a worldview.

- c. Gain and deploy the skills needed to engage seriously with religions and worldviews, so that they can:

- find out about and investigate key concepts and questions of belonging, meaning, purpose and truth, responding creatively;
- enquire into what enables different individuals and communities to live together respectfully for the wellbeing of all;
- articulate beliefs, values and commitments clearly to explain why they may be important in their own and other people's lives

2.1 RE in the school curriculum

RE is a statutory subject of the school curriculum of maintained schools. Academies and free schools are contractually required through the terms of their funding to make provision for the teaching of RE to all pupils on the school roll. Alongside the subject's contribution to pupils' mental, cognitive and linguistic development, RE offers distinctive opportunities to promote pupils' spiritual, moral, social and cultural development. RE lessons should offer a structured and safe space during curriculum time for reflection, discussion, dialogue and debate.

Lessons should also allow for timely and sensitive responses to be made to unforeseen events of a religious, moral or philosophical nature, whether local, national or global.

Professional Development for Teachers

The SACRE supported the introduction of 3 Faiths Forum, to provide training on the delivery of religious education to teachers. SACRE is pleased to support this development to deliver an RE curriculum that enable children and young people to address key issues of belief and identity in a safe and secure learning space. The forum is endorsed by both the local authority and the SACRE. The major part of their involvement in schools is planned for 2017/18.

2.2 Local Agreed Syllabus

Religious Education (RE) is not part of the National Curriculum but is a local responsibility. It is for this reason that, by law, each local authority must produce an agreed syllabus for RE. Legislation also requires that an agreed syllabus be reviewed every five years. The new Waltham Forest Agreed Syllabus KS1&2 was published in July 2016, building on the success of the last syllabus. SACRE is grateful to members and teachers who worked to ensure a robust syllabus along with excellent non-statutory guidance to support the work for all Waltham Forest schools.

SACRE is also delighted that free schools and academies within Waltham Forest have chosen to adopt the Waltham Forest Agreed Syllabus and use the non-statutory guidance

Key Stages 3,4&5

SACRE will task an ‘Agreed Syllabus Conference’ during 2017/18 to review and revise the present syllabus and recommend a newly reformed syllabus to SACRE for publication before by July 2018. This forms a key aspect of SACRE’s work for 2017/18 and is part of the Action Plan agreed for 2017/18.

GCSE: FULL COURSE

From these statistics, Waltham Forest full course GCSE results were above the national average for Religious Studies at 74.2.8% A*-C (national average was 70.2%). It can also be seen that in terms of A* and A grades Waltham Forest students performed a full 8.5% higher than the national percentage.

GCSE: SHORT COURSES

The numbers of students entered for specific short courses varies and many schools do not enter any students at all, preferring to focus on the full course. When the number of entrants fell below ten in 2017 the results have not been published here. The Short Course which attracted a larger number of entrants (355) represents only three schools. In those three schools, 59% achieved A*- C against the national average of 46%: 98% achieved A*-E against national average of 91% A*-E.

A/S Level RS examination results

The A level results 2016 show that 54 students were entered: 54% of those students achieved A-C grade as opposed to 71% of all students nationally. The results for A*-E grades show that 93% of students in Waltham Forest achieved the standard whilst the national figure is 89%. The national figure includes all schools, state and privately funded but the Waltham Forest figure is for state funded schools and colleges. The small number of pupils (less than 10) entered for A levels specific to different faith schools are not recorded here.

There have been no complaints made to SACRE about the teaching of RE.

3 Collective Act of Worship

No specific review of collective worship in the borough's schools has taken place and there have been no requests for determinations relating to collective worship or complaints about how collective worship is delivered in schools.

4. Links with other Agencies

SACRE has enjoyed links with other agencies inter-Faith Group and Newham SACRE.

SACRE has kept up with important developments in education and received reports and presentations from within the Waltham Forest Education Service and beyond, these include.

In January 2017, the Council received a presentation from the borough's "Prevent" lead officer. The suggestions were well-received. The SACRE also advises the local authority via its relationship with the school effectiveness advisor. There have been no requests from government, or from other statutory bodies, for advice

In June 2017, The Local Authority Designated Officer for Child Protection and Safeguarding (LADO) made a very welcome presentation on the LA's approach to safeguarding children and young people in education in Waltham Forest.
