Religion and Worldviews

The Triumph of the Secular in Religious Education

Edited by L. Philip Barnes

This book provides the first serious analysis and review of the Commission on Religious Education's proposed worldviews framework for the subject. It argues that religious education has an important contribution to make to the aims of liberal education and examines whether the shift to a worldview's framework is capable of overcoming current weaknesses and initiating a new positive direction for the future. Bringing together leading names in the field, this is essential reading for trainee and practising teachers of religious education, RE advisers and schools' leaders responsible for curriculum development.

He is the author of Education, Religion and Diversity: Developing a New Model of Religious Education (2014) and of Crisis, Controversy and the Future of Religious Education (2020), both published by Routledge.
